

Subsidy resources

Information available from the WTO

The WTO holds a number of databases with information on foreign subsidies. The WTO Subsidies and Countervailing Measures Agreement (SCM) obliges members to submit a variety of notifications to the SCM Committee on subsidies and countervailing measures. Notifications can be accessed and searched here under the notifications tab in the Search Documents Online header.

The WTO website also lists disputes (requests for consultations) on subsidies and countervailing measures. A list of all consultations can be viewed here. Questions from the United States and the European Union to China in relation to Chinese subsidies is available here.

The WTO releases WTO-wide reports on trade-related developments of WTO members and observers every six months. These reports sometimes include information on subsidies.

Information collated by other governments

The United States International Trade Administration Subsidies Enforcement Office publishes an electronic subsidies enforcement library. The library provides an easily accessible one-stop shop that provides user-friendly information on foreign government subsidy practices.

The European Commission website provides information on completed anti-subsidy investigations. Completed investigations list subsidies that the European Commission found in its investigations.
