Statement for Reasons for Variable Factors Review

Yingao is requesting a review of the following variable factors:

- normal values
- export prices, and
- the amount of the countervailable subsidy received in respect of the goods.

NORMAL VALUE

Basis for current normal values applicable to Yingao

During the original antidumping investigation on deep drawn stainless steel sinks, Yingao was considered to be among "Uncooperative and all other exporters" and Yingao is currently still subject to this category.

In the original investigation, the normal values for the "Uncooperative and all other exporters" were established in accordance with s. 269TAC(6) of the Act, specifically, the Commission used the highest weighted average normal value for the entire investigation period from the selected exporters.

In addition, in the original investigation, in the calculation of the normal value for the selected exporters, the Commission has, In light of its finding that the costs of 304 SS CRC incurred by Chinese exporters of the goods do not reasonably reflect competitive market costs for that input, used a benchmark price of MEPS-based average price for 304 SS CRC using the monthly reported MEPS North American and European prices alone (excluding the Asian price) to replace the stainless steel costs recorded in the exporters' records. The average uplift to exporters' costs was around 10%. Since the normal value determined by the Commission for Yingao was based on the normal value determined for the selected exporters, the uplift of stainless steel costs based on MEPS benchmark' also factored into the normal value determined for Yingao.

Reasons for review of normal values for Yingao

The reasons are as follows:

During the original investigation, the Commission used the highest weighted average normal value for the entire investigation period from the selected cooperating exporters. That didn't reflect the actual normal value of Yingao, and it means that the normal value would and should be changed if using Yingao's actual data to ascertain.

There has been significant change of the benchmark MEPS prices:

The stainless steel is the most important raw materials in the production of the drawn stainless steel sinks. While there are other factors that would also influence the costs of drawn stainless steel sinks, the cost of stainless steel is the most important factor affecting the costs and normal values so established. Based on the experience of Yingao, the stainless steel costs accounted for around 【confidential data, disclosure of which would be detrimental to Yingao's interests】 % of the total costs of the deep drawn stainless steel sinks. Therefore, the change of the benchmark MEPS North American and European prices for 304 SS CRC would definitely change the cost of the drawn stainless steel sinks and also the normal values.

Please refer to Exhibit 1 the comparison table of the MEPS North American and European prices for 304 SS CRC between the period of original investigation, i.e., year 2013 and the most recent 12-month period for which the MEPS price data are available to Yingao, from July 2016 to June 2017. The source of the data is the official website of MEPS at <http://www.meps.co.uk/world-price.htm>. The source of the exchange rates used is the official website of Reserve Bank of Australia at <http://www.rba.gov.au/statistics/historical-data.html#exchange-rates>. Please refer to Exhibit 2 the underlying exchange rate data from the Reserve Bank of Australia website with the relevant calculations.

The comparison tables shows that the average price of MEPS North American and European prices for 304 SS CRC during the POI of the original investigation was 2743 USD/Ton, and the average price of MEPS North American and European prices for 304 SS CRC during the most recent 12-month period for which the MEPS price data are available to Yingao (July 2016 to June 2017) was 2378 USD/Ton, i.e., the unit stainless steel price dropped by 365 USD/Ton or around 15.3% in comparison with the POI of the original investigation.

Since stainless steel is the majority of the costs of deep drawn stainless steel sinks, a drop of 286 USD/Ton or around 15.3% of the stainless steel price in comparison with the POI of the original investigation apparently and naturally means a significant change of the normal value for Yingao, and it will persist. Based on the experience of Yingao, since the stainless steel accounted for around 【confidential data, disclosure of which would be detrimental to Yingao's interests】 % of the total costs of deep drawn stainless steel sinks, a drop of 15.3% of stainless steel price would mean a drop of 【confidential data, disclosure of which would be detrimental to Yingao's interests】 % (15.3% * 【confidential data, disclosure of which would be detrimental to Yingao's interests】 %) of the normal value.

EXPORT PRICE

Basis for current export price applicable to Yingao

During the original antidumping investigation on deep drawn stainless steel sinks, Yingao was considered to be among "Uncooperative and all other exporters" and Yingao is currently still subject to this category.

In the original investigation, the export price for the "Uncooperative and all other exporters" were established in accordance with s. 269TAB(3) of the Act, specifically, the Commission used the lowest weighted average export price for the entire investigation period from the selected exporters, excluding any part of that price that relates to post-exportation charges.

Reasons for review of export price for Yingao

The reasons are as follows:

1. During the original investigation, the Commission used the lowest weighted average export price for the entire investigation period from the selected exporters, excluding any part of that price that relates to post-exportation charges. That didn't reflect the actual export price of Yingao, and it means that the export price would and should be changed if Yingao's actual data is used.
2. Yingao did not make any exports of the deep drawn stainless steel sinks to Australia in recent years due to the high antidumping and countervailing duty rates currently applicable to Yingao. However Yingao had recently been in discussion with an importer in Australia of the deep drawn stainless steel sinks for the exports of such products to Australia, and has provided price quotes to the importer in Australia for such products which could form basis for the understanding of the current price of Yingao. Please refer to Exhibit 3 the email communications between Yingao and the Australian importer, including the price quotes of Yingao as evidences. Since the exact price established for Yingao by the Commission in the original investigation, i.e., the lowest weighted average export price for the entire investigation period from the selected exporters, excluding any part of that price that relates to post-exportation charges, is confidential information and is not available to Yingao, Yingao is prevented from calculating a specific amount of change based on the comparison of current price quotes of Yingao and the export price established for Yingao in the original investigation. Only the Commission has with it the specific price established for Yingao in the original investigation and can make such comparison.
3. The exchange rate between Australian Dollars and RMB, exchange rate between Australian Dollars and USD and exchange rate between USD and RMB all have changed significantly between period of original investigation and recent period (note: for the purpose of being consistent with normal value change claim above, Yingao has used July 2016 to June 2017 as the recent period) . Since exchange rate is an important factor in consideration of export price for both Chinese exporters and Australian importers, the significant change of exchange rates would have significant impact on the export prices and lead to change of export prices which would persist.

Please refer to Exhibit 4 the comparison table between period of original investigation and recent period of exchange rates between Australian Dollars and RMB, exchange rate between Australian Dollars and USD and exchange rate between USD and RMB. The source of the exchange rates used is the official website of Reserve Bank of Australia at <http://www.rba.gov.au/statistics/historical-data.html#exchange-rates>.

It can be seen from the Exhibit that the Australian Dollar has depreciated by around 14% from POI 2013 to the recent period, and the USD has appreciated by around 11% during the same periods. Since the export price to Australia of deep drawn stainless steel sinks is normally denominated in USD, appreciation of the RMB against USD would normally lead to proportionate increase of export price by the Chinese exporters to retain the same amount of RMB gained from the exports.

SUBSIDY

Basis for current subsidy margin applicable to Yingao

During the original antidumping investigation on deep drawn stainless steel sinks, Yingao was considered to be among "Uncooperative and all other exporters" and Yingao is currently still subject to this category.

For the category that Yingao is subject to, the Commission has determined that, in the absence of GOC advice regarding the individual enterprises that had received financial contributions under each of the investigated subsidy programs, the Commissioner has had regard to the available relevant facts and determines that uncooperative exporters have received financial contributions that have conferred a benefit under 23 programs found to be countervailable in relation to deep drawn stainless steel sinks. The findings in relation each investigated program are outlined in the below table, including the 23 programs found countervailable by the Commission and therefore formed the subsidy margin applicable to Yingao.

Program Number	Program Name	Program Type	Countervailable In relation to the goods (Yes/No)
Program 1	Raw Materials Provided by the Government at Less than Fair Market Value	Provision of goods	Yes
Program 2	Research & Development (R&D) Assistance Grant	Grant	Yes
Program 3	Grants for Export Activities	Grant	Yes
Program 4	Allowance to pay loan interest	Grant	Yes
Program 5	International Market Fund for Export Companies	Grant	Yes
Program 6	International Market Fund for Small and Medium-sized Export Companies	Grant	Yes
Program 7	Reduced tax rate for productive FIEs scheduled to operate for a period not less than 10 years	Income Tax	No

Program 8	Tax preference available to companies that operate at a small profit	Income Tax	Yes
Program 9	Award to top ten tax payer	Grant	Yes
Program 10	Assistance to take part in overseas trade fairs	Grant	Yes
Program 11	Grant for management certification	Grant	Yes
Program 12	Grant for certification of product patents	Grant	Yes
Program 13	Grant for inventions, utility models and designs	Grant	Yes
Program 14	Grant for international marketing	Grant	Yes
Program 15	Subsidy to electronic commerce	Grant	Yes
Program 16	Grant for overseas advertising and trademark registration	Grant	Yes
Program 17	Grant for overseas marketing or study	Grant	Yes
Program 18	Gaolan Port Subsidy	Grant	Yes
Program 19	Information development subsidy	Grant	Yes
Program 20	Foreign Trade Exhibition Activity Fund	Grant	Yes
Program 21	Zhuhai Technology Reform & Renovation Fund	Grant	Yes
Program 22	Zhuhai Support the Strong Enterprise Interests Subsidy	Grant	Yes
Program 23	Zhuhai Research & Development Assistance Fund	Grant	Yes
Program 24	Preferential Tax Policies for High and New Technology Enterprises	Income Tax	Yes

Reasons for review of the amount of countervailable subsidy for Yingao

Yingao has not received any benefit for its income tax and therefore the above programs 7, 8 and 24 do not apply to Yingao.

Yingao has not received benefit under any of the grant programs listed in the above table and therefore none of the grant programs is applicable to Yingao, specifically above programs 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23.

As to program 1, RAW MATERIALS PROVIDED BY THE GOVERNMENT AT LESS THAN FAIR MARKET VALUE: in the original investigation, the Commission has determined for the "Uncooperative and all other exporters", that in the absence of information that demonstrates the volume of 304 SS CRC purchased from SIEs by selected uncooperative and all other exporters, in accordance with s. 269TACD(1), the Commissioner determines that uncooperative and all other exporters would have had benefits conferred to them under this program by this financial contribution, and has calculated the amount of subsidy attributable to that benefit by reference to the subsidy rate of the selected exporter that received this program (in the absence of other reliable information).

It is clear from the original investigation that only when the exporter purchased stainless steel from SIE suppliers/producers, a financial contribution and subsidy would be found for the exporter. Yingao did not purchase stainless steel from 【confidential information, disclosure of which would be detrimental to Yingao's interests】 suppliers or producers but only purchased stainless steel from 【confidential information, disclosure of which would be detrimental to Yingao's interests】 suppliers/producers having no relationship with the government. Therefore, there is no financial contribution by the government or public body for Yingao's purchase of stainless steel and therefore there would be no subsidy found for Yingao under this program using Yingao's own information.

Since Yingao has not benefited from any of the programs found providing subsidies in the original investigation to the Uncooperative and all other exporters, including Yingao, such situation would change and there would be no subsidy for Yingao if it is examined for itself. Such change would be to persist.
