1. GROUNDINGS FOR REVIEW

Yonggang submits that a review of the variable factors is warranted based on the change to the contemporary ascertained normal value.

2. ASCERTAINED EXPORT PRICE

2.1 Basis for current ascertained export prices

The current applicable ascertained export price relevant to Yonggang's exports was determined in the original investigation (REP 300) in accordance with s.269TAB(1)(a) of the Act, using the invoice export price less prescribed deductions.

The current ascertained export price applying to Yonggang's exports of rebar is [REDACTED]/mt.

2.2 Grounds for review of ascertained export prices

Since the decision to impose interim dumping duties, Yonggang has continued to export rebar to Australia [REDACTED] during the original investigation period (July 2014 to 30 June 2015). The [REDACTED] export selling prices is supported by the sample export sales commercial invoices contained at Confidential Exhibit A.

The submitted information shows that unit selling prices across a proposed review period of 1 April 2016 to 31 March 2017 varied from a weighted average price of [REDACTED]/mt in [REDACTED] to [REDACTED]/mt in [REDACTED]. The weighted average export price over this period was approximately [REDACTED]/mt. This compares to the AEP applicable to Yonggang's exports of [REDACTED]/mt, or approximately a [REDACTED] [REDACTED].

2.3 Conclusion

On the basis of the attached evidence for export sales of rebar, Yonggang considers that there appears to be reasonable grounds for asserting that the ascertained export price relevant to the taking of anti-dumping measures has changed.

3. ASCERTAINED NORMAL VALUE

3.1 Basis for current ascertained normal values

The current applicable ascertained normal value for Yonggang was determined in the original investigation in accordance with s.269TAC(2)(c) of the Act using Yonggang's weighted average cost to make and sell data (revised for billet cost uplift), and an amount for profit based on domestic sales of like goods sold in the ordinary course of trade.

Yonggang's weighted average normal value determined following the ADRP's findings (ADRP Report No.39) was calculated at [REDACTED]/mt. Refer to Confidential Exhibit A.

PUBLIC VERSION

3.2 Grounds for review of ascertained normal values

As steel billet accounts for the vast proportion of the total cost to make and sell of steel reinforcing bars, Yonggang has calculated contemporary normal values by adjusting estimated ascertained normal values by reference to the movement in Latin America FOB Export prices. The graph below shows that Latin America FOB Export prices have fallen by approximately [REDACTED]% when comparing the average price of the original investigation period and the contemporary 2016 calendar year. Analysis is contained in Confidential Exhibit B.

[CONFIDENTIAL CHART REMOVED]

Based on the reduction in benchmark billet prices which will directly impact on constructed normal values, Yonggang estimates a prevailing contemporary ascertained normal value at [REDACTED]/mt. Refer to Confidential Exhibit A.

In Yonggang's opinion, the contemporary normal values are likely to persist and even reduce further over the future period given the current falling trend in iron ore prices (refer to chart below).

[CONFIDENTIAL CHART REMOVED]

Evidence to support the above graph is attached at Confidential Exhibit C.

3.3 Conclusion

Yonggang considers that the submitted evidence supports the view that there appears to be reasonable grounds for asserting that the ascertained normal value relevant to the taking of anti-dumping measures has changed.
