Attention: Director, Investigations 2

Dear Sir/Madam,

Re: Continuation Inquiry 617 – Exports of pallet racking and parts thereof from China and Malaysia

I refer to my submission concerning Continuation Inquiry 617 placed on the Commission's public file on 6 December 2023.

I note that there have been no responses to that submission, including from members of the Australian industry. Importantly, there have been no responses claiming that the views expressed in my submission were either factually and/or legally incorrect and providing cogent reasons supported by evidence for any such claims. In the absence of any such responses, presumably other interested parties, including members of the Australian industry, concur with the views expressed in my submission or, at least, consider them to be correct.

In this context, I also do note that on 8 December 2023 the Commission did extend the date on which the Commissioner is required to provide his report and recommendations to the Minister to 27 March 2024, thereby providing interested parties, including members of the Australian industry, to respond to my submission if they disagreed with it.

At any rate, would you please advise whether, given the matters raised in my submission and the implications that they have for, amongst other things, this continuation inquiry, the Commission will be issuing a revised Statement of Essential Facts or other similar statement that addresses those issues. This would be to provide interested parties with details concerning any changes to material findings of fact and any alterations to the proposed recommendations to the Minister, thereby enabling interested parties to respond to any such changes or alterations if required in the defence of their interests.

If, on the other hand, it is not proposed to issue such a revised Statement of Essential Facts or other similar statement, would you please show cause why legal proceedings should not be commenced to prevent the Commissioner from reporting to the Minister in terms of the Statement of Essential Facts issued on 30 October 2023 and making the recommendations to the Minister as proposed therein, which legal proceedings could include seeking compensation for:

Importers who have paid interim dumping duties; and warehouse proprietors whose cost for installation of steel pallet racking systems including maintenance of such systems, has increased; and Australian businesses whose cost of storing their goods has increased; and Australian businesses and consumers whose cost of goods stored on such storage systems has increased,

such as by way of, for example, class action or otherwise, as a result of the unlawful imposition of anti-dumping measures on imports of steel pallet racking systems and parts thereof from China and Malaysia.

No doubt the Minister would not wish to have to explain the unnecessary increases in the cost of living and inflationary pressures due to the unlawful imposition of tariffs.

I would be grateful to receive your advice by no later than Midday 16th February 2024

This letter and information contained in it are non-confidential and, accordingly, this letter should be placed on the Commission's electronic public file, and I would be grateful for this to be done.

Yours sincerely,
