Dear Mr Gleeson,

My client and I would be grateful if you could issue the report relating to the Czech Republic forthwith or by cob Monday 28 November 2011 at the latest.

There is no justifiable reason for any additional delay. As stated in my email below (and noting the content of my letter to you), each export country is a separate matter and we insist that the report for the Czech Republic be finalised and issued without regard to any other country.

I should note that one of the applicants has devoted a link on its homepage/website to the dumping investigation. You can imagine the negative impact of that on my client. I attach a link to it for your convenience.

Dear Mr Gleeson

Further to my email below, and in reply to the final sentence in your email, I consider that any formal reply from you should not in any way impede the finalisation of the exporter questionnaire for the Czech Republic. I consider that there is a legal duty to provide that report without delay and without regard to the exporters in other countries.

Kind regards
