Answer:

This joint-venture company was established in April 2006. The Grinding Ball Business Department was only established in October 2015 being after the implementation of current measures. The company has two shareholders, not related to any known persons associated with any other relevant entity.

The Chinese party is natural, the foreign party is body corporate.

(b) The foreign party is body corporate.

(c) Answer is “Yes”

(d) Answer is “No”

(e) Answer is “No”

8. Provide a statement setting out the basis on which you consider the particular dumping or countervailing duty notice is inappropriate, so far as the applicant is concerned.

Answer:

The current dumping and countervailing measures based on the original investigation period are considered to be inappropriate for this Company given the respective commencement dates and in the opinion of the Company’s two shareholders, domestic selling prices of the intermediate steel billets used to produce the goods and the status of those steel billet suppliers from the original investigation period may be different to the new company’s supply situation. Additionally, not having exported the goods at any time to Australia, unlike those exporters subject to current measures, any export price will need to be a constructed export price.

Impact of an all exporter review of measures	Where a review of measures applies to all exporters of the goods generally (that is, not a single exporter), the changes to the notice(s) that result from the review may apply to all relevant exporters of the goods, including past applicants for an accelerated review. This means that changes to a notice as an outcome of an all exporter review of measures may replace an earlier published outcome of an accelerated review.

Public Record	There is no legislative requirement to maintain a public record for accelerated reviews. However, in the interests of transparency, a public record for an accelerated review will be opened and accessible on the Commission’s website at www.adcommission.gov.au. The public record will contain, among other things, a copy of the application, all submissions from interested parties and Commission reports. At the time of making the application, the Commission requests both a confidential version (for official use only) and non-confidential version (public record) of the application be submitted.
