AUSTRALIAN CUSTOMS DUMPING NOTICE NO. 2012/36

Minister for Home Affairs re-appoints Acting Trade Measures Review Officer

On Friday 6 July 2012, the Minister for Home Affairs Jason Clare re-appointed Stephen Skehill as acting Trade Measures Review Officer (TMRO).

The TMRO reviews certain decisions of the Minister and Chief Executive Officer of Customs and Border Protection under the Customs Act 1901 in relation to dumping and subsidy investigations, reviews and continuations.

Legislation is currently before the Parliament to enact the Government's plans to replace the TMRO with a panel of members as part of the Government's improvements to the anti-dumping system.

In the interim, to ensure reviews are conducted in a timely manner, Mr Skehill will act under the current arrangements for independent review set out in the Customs Act.

Mr Skehill is a former Australian Government Solicitor and former Secretary of the Commonwealth Attorney-General's Department.
