

Customs Act 1901 – Part XVB

Trade Remedies Notice (TRN) No 2026/146

Certain welded steel mesh sheets

Exported to Australia from the People's Republic of China and

Malaysia

Amendment to securities

Public notice under section 269TD of the Customs Act 1901

Background

On 25 November 2025, I, David Latina, as Commissioner of the then Anti-Dumping Commission¹ initiated an investigation (the investigation) into alleged dumping of certain welded steel mesh sheets (the goods) exported to Australia from the People's Republic of China (China) and Malaysia following an application made by InfraBuild (Newcastle) Pty Ltd (InfraBuild) and the Steel Reinforcement Institute of Australia (SRIA). Further details in relation to the initiation of the investigation and a full description of the goods can be found in ADN No 2025/114.²

On 7 August 2026, I published Preliminary Affirmative Determination No 692 (PAD 692)³ pursuant to section 269TD(1) of the Customs Act 1901 (the Act).⁴ At the time of making the PAD, I determined that securities were required and should be taken under section 42 of the Act in respect of interim dumping duty (IDD) that may become payable in respect of the goods exported from China.

I made this decision because I was satisfied that it was necessary for the Commonwealth to require and take securities in order to prevent material injury to the Australian industry occurring while the investigation continued.

Securities were required and taken at the rates outlined in ADN No 2026/107⁵ in respect of interim dumping duty that may have become payable in respect of the goods entered for home consumption on or after 8 August 2026.

¹ On the 29 September 2026, the name of the Anti-Dumping Commission was changed to the Australian Trade Remedies Commission.

Amendment to securities

Today, 30 September 2026, I, David Latina, Commissioner of the Australian Trade Remedies Commission, published Statement of Essential Facts 692 (SEF 692). As a result of my findings in SEF 692, I am satisfied it is necessary for the Commonwealth to continue to require and take securities in respect of IDD that may become payable on the goods imported from China by all exporters.

Accordingly, and having considered the submissions to the PAD, for any goods exported to Australia from China and entered for home consumption on or after 1 October 2026, I have revised the level of securities required and taken under section 42 of the Act in respect of any IDD payable by all exporters from China. I have also revised the method of calculating the taking of the duties; i.e. after the making of the PAD on 7 August 2026, the duty method for taking securities was the ad valorem method, while I now find it suitable to apply the combination duty method.

The revised securities specified in Table 1 will be taken as amounts worked out in accordance with the duty methods outlined in Table 1.

Exporter	Current securities duty method	Current IDD security (%)	Revised securities duty method	Revised IDD security (%)
Beijing Xingtai Steel Weldmesh Technology Development Co., Ltd.	ad valorem	29.6%	Combination	29.8%
Tianjin TianKang Metal Products Co., Ltd.	ad valorem	32.3%	Combination	32.4%
Anhui BRC and Ma Steel Weldmesh Co., Ltd.	ad valorem	28.4%	Combination	28.5%
Uncooperative and all other exporters	ad valorem	45.3%	Combination	45.4%

Table 1: Summary of revised securities

I must report to the Minister for Industry and Innovation and Minister of Science (the Minister) with final recommendations in relation to the investigation on or before 3 December 2026. The Minister will decide whether to publish a dumping duty notice, and the level of measures to impose.
